Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Wednesday 08 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rather cloudy, showery. Gales in north easing later.

Today:
Bright spells and showers. The showers will be most frequent, some heavy over northeast Scotland, falling as snow on hills. Fewer showers and more sunshine in west. Persistent rain and gales becoming confined to Shetland with winds easing here later.

Tonight:
Showers becoming fewer and lighter with many places becoming dry. Some clear periods developing, especially in the west leading to a touch of frost. Mostly light winds.

Thursday:
Mainly dry morning with sunny spells but showers continuing over Northern Isles. Western Scotland will become cloudy during the afternoon with rain later in the day.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Sunshine on Friday with blustery showers, mostly in the west. A band of more persistent, heavier rain will cross the country on Saturday then brighter, showery conditions returning on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.